HIGHLY ESTEEMED MEDICINES. FOSTER'S EGYPTIAN BALM OF LIFE.

NATURE'S GRAND AND GENIAL AUXILIARY. SPECIFIC FOR Consumption, Great Bodily Debility, Old and firmly Rooted Coughs, Flatulency, Indigestion and Bilious Disorders, Constipation and Diarrhea, and all Scrofulous Affections and Female Complaints.

The Egyptian Balm of Life being an invaluable Remedy, should not be neglected in the Spring and Summer months, in throwing off superfluous humors, generated in the winter and summer months; thus acting as well as otherwise curing the above diseases, and giving a healthy tone and proper action to all the grand operations of the system.

This Medicine has long sustained an unrivalled character for its efficacy in the private practice of many of the best practitioners in Europe, yet remaining at the same time undervalued in the possession of the individual, whom it has been purchased.

is now exerting a salutary influence on this side of the Atlantic, and it is recommended to those who may be laboring under any of the diseases for which it is deemed as a specific, and also as a preventive of disease, as a most valuable medicine.

For a more particular description of the above medicine, we would refer to the envelope accompanying each box.

any valuable certificate might be produced of the effect received therefrom. Hundreds in the State of Maine, as well as in other States, can testify to its efficacy, but the proprietor is willing for the public to judge for themselves by trial. A few names however, are referred to in the envelope accompanying each box.

Foster's Celebrated Nerve Ointment, for the cure of Sprains, Bruises, Cramps, Rheumatism, Contusions, Burns, Scalds, Stiff Neck, Stiff Breast, Back, Fore, Throat, Distemper, Pains, &c.

The general testimony concerning this Ointment, from those who have proved its merits, is, that it is too valuable a medicine to be neglected. And indeed we might add a book of an hundred pages in giving incidents of its effects on the suffering.

Patent Mill Wheels.

THE Subscriber having for a long time given his attention to the construction and operation of Water Wheels, has finally succeeded in the invention of two kinds of Wheels for which he has received Letters Patent from the Government of the United States.

These Wheels are simple in their construction, cheap and durable, are easily put in operation, and are not liable like most other wheels to get out of order; they are not obstructed by back water, when the head is not diminished thereby; and the same power and speed is obtained, with about one half the quantity of water usually applied to wheels now in general use.

A great number of these Wheels are now in operation and give in all cases entire satisfaction; and for further information respecting them the following gentlemen are referred to, all of whom have some of said wheels in operation: Jacob Drummond, James B. Fiske, Amos Davis and Leonard March, Esqrs., Messrs. Fiske & Norcross, Foster & Gilman, S. P. & H. Strickland, W. T. & H. Peirce & Co. Bangor; Hon. J. S. Little, Portland; Hon. John Otis, Hallowell; F. A. Bateman, Esquire, Dixmont; Robert Treat, Geo. A. Peirce, Esquires, Frankfort; Daniel Dennett, Esq. Milo; Col. Henry Orne, Milton; Messrs. The above wheels are manufactured and for sale at the Iron Foundries of Messrs. HINCKLEY & EGERY and FRANKLIN MUZZY & Co. in this city, who are furnished with a great variety of patterns, so that Wheels of any particular description, or adapted to any given head of water, can be furnished at short notice. They are also authorized to dispose of the Patent Right for the same.

PROSPECTUS OF THE MECHANICS' RECORD.

By a vote of the late STATE CONVENTION OF MECHANICS, a Committee was authorized to issue a Prospectus for the publication, in the city of Bangor, of a monthly periodical devoted to the interests of the Mechanics of the State, and to be the organ of communication between the different Associations already formed, and the means of increasing their numbers and extending their influence.

Agreeably to their instructions, the Committee now propose to their brethren, the Mechanics of Maine, the publication of a monthly periodical earnestly devoted to their interests—to all that concerns their social relations, their scientific attainments, and their progress in self-cultivation; a publication heartily engaged in disseminating a correct public sentiment regarding useful labor—in enlarging the boundaries of science, aiding in the improvement of the arts and in spreading useful information upon all subjects connected with education and the arts, as well as an organ of communication between the Mechanic Associations in the State.

It is confidently expected that the matter for each number will be furnished by the earnest thinkers in each of the Associations in the State and by men who are deeply interested in the onward progress of humanity, by means of a better and a wider spread intelligence among the people, and a broader extension of physical science and the mechanic arts.

The RECORD will be issued in a pamphlet form of convenient size for binding, upon good paper and a clear type, each number to contain as many pages as the amount of the subscription at the time of its publication will warrant.

TERMS. The RECORD will be furnished to each subscriber for one dollar a year in advance, and no subscriptions will be received without the pay.

Delegates to the State Convention, the officers of the several Mechanic Associations and mechanics generally are requested to aid in procuring subscribers and remitting the money, that the experiment so honorable to them, if successful, and so useful to the community may not fail for the want of their co-operation and influence. It is expected, also, that each Association will take immediate measures to occupy a portion of the RECORD in those matters deemed of the greatest interest in advancing the cause which the mechanics in this State, for themselves, have so unanimously undertaken.

The first number will be put to press as soon as notice is received of a sufficient subscription to sustain the publication.

A Printing Office.
The readers of a daily paper, as they look over its columns of original matter, its news items, and its miscellaneous and political articles, and the columns of advertisements, are not often aware of the labor which its production cost, or the routine of the mechanical contrivances required to furnish it to them. We propose to give our readers an insight into a portion of the business.

It is Tuesday morning, and the carrier boys are out bright and early with the Daily and Weekly papers. The compositors, that is, the men who set the types, arrive at the office from their several boarding places, and the first thing to be attended to is the breaking up of the matter in the form of the weekly paper, which was worked off the previous evening, in order to replenish the cases which have been previously emptied of their contents. To do this, each workman lifts from a single column in the form as much of the matter as he can conveniently hold in its upright position in his left hand, and proceeds with his right hand to place the types back again in their appropriate boxes. This is done about four times as fast as the setting them up. While this is going on, the editor prepares the miscellaneous matter for the outside of the next day's paper. When the cases are filled, the compositors commence setting up the matter prepared, while the editor is engaged in looking over such papers as are on his table, and in preparing his copy for the inside of the paper for the next day. But as no papers were received by the last western mail, on account of its detention at Portsmouth during the Sabbath, he re-examines such papers as he has, hunts up any communications that may have been laid over, and on this occasion concludes to give his readers a picture of the internal arrangements of his office.

While this is quietly going on in one department, the hands in the Job office are setting up and striking off large bills of exhibitions, auctions, and such like. Here comes the proof of a large bill for us to read that we may detect any errors in the types. * * * That disposed of, we will proceed again. The compositors when they have filled their composing-sticks, which hold about twenty lines of matter, they grasp it between their thumbs and fingers, and lift it out and place it in a brass frame called a galley.—When this is filled, one of the workmen secures the matter in the frame with quoins, or what may be called wedges, and proceeds to one of the presses to prove it by taking an impression. This is taken to the editor for him to read carefully and to mark all errors in the margin.—These errors are often very amusing and sometimes quite perplexing, particularly when set from blindly written manuscript, a word or two often obscuring the whole sense of a paragraph. It sometimes happens that the person correcting the proof mistakes the marking of the proof, and ludicrous errors, to the annoyance of delicate nerves, often appear in the paper.

The first matter being proved it is placed in the form—the advertisements overhauled and adjusted, and the pressman, with a boy to roll the ink upon the form, works off the outside of the next day's emission. While all this is going on, people are calling to purchase papers, or pay something on their accounts, or to have a bill printed or an advertisement inserted, and the paper-maker arrives with a lot of paper, and his bill, which must be paid. Others come in to mention some fact worthy of notice, or that is important for us to know. In the mean time a call is made for copy by the compositors, and the matter for the paper is continually growing.

It sometimes happens that communications are received from the most gifted minds and are inserted with great pleasure, because they show that the paper to which they are offered enjoys the confidence of such persons, and because such articles increase its usefulness. At other times communications are received, the effect of which is rather questionable, and others again of evil tendency, and yet many of these are urged upon the attention of the editor by claims of friendship, by his desire to be thought independent, and by all the motives that can well be addressed to the human mind or human vanity or passion. The duty of selection is an important one, and out of the variety, with the frequent interruptions of business on the one hand and the demand for copy on the other, and the universal talent and tact required in all this we greatly marvel that so many succeed so well as they do in making up, year after year, a daily paper.

The bulk of the inside copy being given out, the editor looks about him for any matters of local interest, reserving sufficient space for the news by the mail that arrives in the evening. When sufficient matter is set up, which is generally about five o'clock in the afternoon, it is proved, read and corrected and ready to be made up in the form. In the evening the ship news is obtained and set up, the papers by the Eastern mail are examined and all is in readiness for the great mail from the west. This now arrives at an early hour in the evening, but sometimes it is delayed until midnight, but late or early, we must be ready to examine it, select the most important items of news and the latest shipping memoranda and have it put in type for the morning's paper. As the compositors complete their several portions they slip off to their several dwellings. The editor reads the last proof and, gladly starts to home, still leaving his senior partner to make up the paper, which often keeps him until the small hours of morning. At an early hour the pressman and his companion, to roll, strike off the paper and the boys are ready to leave it at the dwellings of our subscribers. This is a general picture of the business of getting up a paper, not for one day only, but for every week day, week after week and year after year; and for all this labor we charge each subscribers less than two cents a copy.

But we have no reason to complain, but feel renewed energy and strength to pursue our labor. The public have stood by us with a generous hand when the vilest and meanest methods have been adopted and perseveringly pursued to injure us. Scarcely is it possible for an advertisement of any manufacturing or mercantile house to appear in our paper without a rush being made not merely to solicit the advertisement but with ungenerous remarks being made relative to our business and by promises to display the advertisement and by affected horror at our prices and not unfrequently by an offer to do it at a price much less than a fair living value. We endeavor to pursue an honorable course in business and to treat all our customers alike—to charge all of them a regular and a fair price, such as our long experience in the business enables us to determine, will allow of our paying our rents, our paper maker and our workmen, and maintaining our families. We do not wish to chaffer with every man for each separate advertisement—we do not wish to charge one neighbor double the price we do another for the same kind of service. We have no taste for working and living upon our creditors for the sake of injuring another person. There is another mode of procedure we wish to expose. Our customers, whom we have succeeded in satisfying for years with our work at job printing, have been visited with offers to do their work below its value, in order as we think, to injure us without benefiting those who do the work. And then, what we consider still worse, is to have the publisher of the Daily Gazette go to a brother printer and state falsehoods to him about our making offers to do work at prices such as we never named nor intended to do. These are specimens of attacks made upon us and by which, in some degree we have been made to suffer, and have, at length, felt it a duty to expose. A fair, honorable, consistent competition we are ready to meet; and if we cannot work as hard and live as cheap as anybody else, we will consent to be beaten; but to be undermined by fraud and falsehood, or to adopt these instruments of warfare, we cannot consent.

We thank our friends for the information they have given us with regard to these matters.—We thank them for their continued confidence. We assure them that honest efforts to serve them shall not be wanting on our part; nor shall any prudent personal sacrifices be lacking to serve them at as low a rate as our neighbors.

Gen. Henry Sewall.

A few weeks since we received a visit from and had an interesting interview with this veteran General who is now living in health at Augusta. During the interview the General related many incidents of interest of the olden times and during their recital seemed animated with a new life.

We love to listen to the remarks of old men and to gather lessons of instruction from their large experience. We have been reminded of this interview with the General by seeing a notice of this Revolutionary Patriot in the columns of the Kennebec Journal stating that on the day of the annual election in this state, when General Sewall entered the town house at Augusta he was met at the door by an active 3d party man, and offered a vote. "What ticket is that?" asked the old gentleman. The reply was "the liberty ticket—you are an abolitionist—you are for liberty." The general, who was a Captain in the army of Washington, and who fought through the whole war, and who though over four score and ten, is yet able to walk about our streets every day, replied in a voice as if he was at the head of a division of troops, "Yes, young men, I am for liberty; I was an abolitionist before you were born; I was also a Whig; I was a Whig of the Revolution. I am a Whig now: Whig all over, and I shall vote this Whig ticket." Ten or twelve years ago Gen. Sewall was perhaps the most influential abolitionist in Kennebec, and he has not changed his opinions. He holds on to the old organization, and has no fellowship with the new party. Though his limbs have lost some of their strength, his intellect is as active as ever, his nerves are firm, and he writes a hand which not one clerk in an hundred can equal.

In passing by the new store recently built and now occupied as a Bonnet and Fancy Goods store, by Col. Dennison, on Main street, we were delighted with its fine exterior appearance, and there were so many attractions within, (none of your laughing now, for we don't mean the girls in attendance,) that we stepped in to examine. It is a beauty of a store and is well filled with excellent goods. The front of the store with its enormous panes of glass quite reminds one of Broadway, New York. The Colonel deserves high credit for his good taste and his liberal outlay to increase the beauty of our city buildings.

As good luck will have it, by repeated advertising, we have found our go-to-meeting umbrella! It was left at the Bangor House, by the man who mistook it for the rusty one he left in our care. We now give notice that we have an umbrella in our office which the owner can have by calling for it.

The papers by mail last evening were as dry as a contribution box.

We learn from Jerome's Express that Charles Oak was detained at Belfast on Monday on account of a heavy gale and a severe rain storm. Gilman & Co's and Jerome's Expresses went through by land. It was expected that the boat would leave Belfast for Portland at 4 o'clock on Tuesday morning and that she would not go through to Boston but return to this city on her regular trip, this day.

We notice that the 'Democrat' of Tuesday published only a part of the report of the Committee of the P. A. Society on manufactures. We should not object, of course, to this proceeding if it had been stated that it was only the report in part. We think this much was due to the committee especially as Mr Blake in his address gave the several committees to understand pretty distinctly that much of the good effects of the society's exhibition depended upon the fullness of their reports.

Mr. M. B. Herring the accomplished penman has made a successful tour to the East giving instruction in his pleasant art. We learn that at Ellsworth Rev. Sewall Tenney obtained the Diploma for the greatest improvement made in a course of lessons.

Lucien Hall was arrested at Meriden on Thursday last, on suspicion of being one of the murderers of Mrs. Bacon, at Middletown, Conn. Hall has been once in a State Prison for burglary.

The Whigs of Portland have elected their Representatives, Messrs Barnes and Chadwick, at the third trial by a majority over the regular opposition ticket of about two hundred. Well done Portland.

There was a shower in this city yesterday afternoon, accompanied by hail—some of the hail stones were as large as a piece of chalk.

Kingbury, of the Portland American, says he has a Jewell in his office. We think it would look well, hung in his nose.

The Linseed oil factory of John D. Dougherty, in Albany, was destroyed by fire on Thursday night. Loss $25,000—insurance, $15,000.

Ten or twelve buildings were destroyed by fire at Brooklyn, N. Y., on Friday last.

The District Court commenced its session in this city yesterday.

The Portland American of Monday says "We understand that Nathaniel Mitchell, Esq. who has lately received his appointment as Postmaster of this city, and who had not entered on the duties of the office, is notified to suspend taking possession until the return of the Post-Master General, who is now on a visit to Kentucky. This is done, as we learn, by special request. Mr. Lyman, the present Post-master, returned from Washington on Friday evening, and was the bearer of this notice."

The editor of the Kennebec Journal, whose long experience gives weight to his opinion thus speaks of the newspapers publishing business in this state:

It is a fact that we have too many papers in this State; more than can yield a fair remuneration for publishing. There has been a score of them started within the last ten years, which have flourished awhile and then been discontinued for lack of support. It is a bootless undertaking, and must always fail, where the advertising patronage and job work will not pay the expenses of publication. No matter what the number of subscribers; so slack are they in paying, that embarrassment and final discontinuance will be the result. Such has been the uniform experience of all that have engaged in such undertakings.

The Muncie Tribe of Indians.

To the Editor of the Albany Evening Journal: When in the west, a short time since, I met with Henry Harvey, a highly respectable member of the friends society, and for a series of years acting as Superintendent of the Shawnee and Muncie tribe of Indians. In behalf of the remnant of the latter race, he has requested me to institute certain inquiries; touching the claims of that tribe, as shadowed for in the Indian talk of their chief.

It would seem that these Indians remember their former agent only as the "White hat Quaker." If the son of this Quaker is still living, and this publication should come before his view, or any one else, who can give information touching this matter, they are requested to open a correspondence with the undersigned.

J. N. REYNOLDS.
Merchants Exchange, N. Y.

Speech of Wam-oup-ton or John Quadrobe, on behalf of the Muncie tribe of Indians, delivered to Henry Harvey, then Superintendent of the Friends Mission among the Shawnees west of the Mississippi.

My brother: We have come to see you and ask of you to help us in a matter which concerns us very much. My brother: We have a right to lands in the State of New York and have always had, which we never sold or ceded away. We are the Wam-oup-ton band of Muncies. Our principal chief, who lived when we left our lands, his name was Quay-quon-nough or Long Arm; one tract of land we own is in Genesee county, New York, not far from Rochester, on Minnink, but as there are two places or rivers of that name, it may be proper to state that this tract is on the one nearest Rochester. Brother: We left this land when war was about breaking out, (we believe it was the Revolutionary war)—we wanted to be out of the reach of war, and we left our land at that place in the care of a member of the Society of Friends—we called him the White hat Quaker.

Brother: About 30 years the son of the Friend in whose care we left our land, went to see us at Huron River about the land; he said his father was old, and wanted to get clear of the care of our land, and wanted something done about it, but nothing was done at that time. About seven years ago, or when the Cholera was so bad in New York, our chiefs were sent to go to Buffalo, and informed that if we would go to Albany and make the case known about our land, that we should have pay for it, accordingly five of our chiefs started, but three took the cholera and died on the road, and the others got discouraged and returned home, and we soon removed from that country and never done anything more about our land. We want you to enquire about the land, on the other Minnink, below Albany, Wyoming and Wualoosins, all of which was owned by the Muncies. Brother, we want you to have the records of New York State, as well as those of the U. States, examined well, and see in what way the white people got in possession of these lands: be sure to see to the first named tract, and the others too; for we left our land to be taken care of for us, and never sold it; and we remember that our father told the friend in whose care we left it, that when the white people got money, that they must pay for our land. My brother we are now very poor, we have no land, we are very few, but you may tell our friends, the Quakers, that the Muncie Indians are yet alive, and their voice can still be heard: that we still remember the strong bands of friendship which was made between them and us by Wm. Penn and his friends. The Great God knows what we say is true: we want to do right in this matter in the sight of our Saviour. We want to serve the Lord while we live. We are a poor little band, and now we hope our friends will help us in this business.

We wish to give our love to all our friends and to always remember the band of peace we entered into with them a long time ago.

We refer you to David Evans, agent of the Holland Company: Signed, Wam-oup-ton, or John Quadrobe, Wan-ne-nook-thout, or John Newcome, Nickadema Wadsworth, grandson of Long Arm, Job Mason, grandson of Long Arm, Henry Pay-moo-chulland.

I certify that the foregoing speech, or stated ment, was made to me when in the Indian country in 1842, and carefully written down, and after being written as delivered to me by their interpreter, John Newcome, was read and interpreted back again to them in their own language and declared by them (the delegation) to be correct as first spoken to me by the interpreter HENRY HARVEY. Clinton County, Ohio, 8th mo., 28th, 1843.

The Farmer's Creed.

Let this be e'er the farmer's creed— Of stock, seek out the choicest breed; In peace and plenty let them feed; Your land sow with the best of seed; Let it not dung or dressing need; Inclose and dress it with all speed; And you will soon be rich indeed.
